“Sonny and I were having a conversation in 2011 when I was about to launch a new company. I was speaking about legacy and what I wanted to leave my children and Sonny responded with this:

"Stevie I hear you. But what's more important than what you leave FOR your children is what you leave IN your children. Morals, character, good will. These things will define them as people. These things will give them a solid foundation on which to build. Leave more IN them than what you leave FOR them."

THAT'S who Sonny was.

*Charles was my Community Board president, patient, and friend. He was a true 'Mench', Yiddish for an "Honorable person, someone of consequence, someone of noble character." (fyi I went to a Jewish medical school, Albert Einstein.)
