“ To the family of Mrs Enda Bobo, I am so sorry for the loss of your mother. The gift of life as it was passed on through a breath of air into the nostrils meant life. The beauty of life never grows old and is never an uneventful occasion, there is always enough joy for all, hugs and kisses abound. In the resurrection we will have more joy to go around, because we will regain those we love. Rev21:4

I will miss my dear mother in law, but I know her pain had to be taken away. The selfish me wish we could still talk about food , tell stories and laugh. I loved making her laugh and I loved hearing her stories. I used to ask her questions just to hear her tell a story about yesterday. She made me feel like more than a son in law. Her wisdom reeled me right in and made me feel comfortable. She was a great cook and loved talking about food preparation. Most of all she was the glue to her family that made them stick together through thick and thin. RIP Mother Bobo, thanks for sharing some valuable time with me...
