“ This is one of the most difficult good byes. My brother Jamrs T. Ward aka "The Goul" for those of us that knew him through high school. My brother was normally the smartest one in the room when he entered - he was an expert on every single topic of conversation. That's how confident he was about himself. When Terry lived with me and my brother, we broke bread together, he even joined our church - where he would jump and shout along side us as we all were praising the lord. Terry was loving, funny and a very caring person. He would give you the last quarter in his pocket. My brother provided myself and my family with so many memories. I thank you Terry for calling and checking in on our mother while she is still with us. She loves talking with you. She would say Teeeeeeery called me and made me laugh the hole time we were on the phone. Terry is a special person to everyone he comes into contact with and he will be surely missed. Never forgotten and always loved.
I LOVE YOU Brother
