“ My uncle, Rodney Gailliard, was one of the kindest and strongest men that I know. I have yet to meet a man as patient and giving as him. Words won't do justice describing how much he meant to me. As a little girl, he would take me to Ye Ole Fashioned for mint chocolate chip ice cream and when we got back to his house or the country, I always knew a survival movie, or Jaws 1-3 is what I was gonna be watching with him for the next couple hours 😂 That's where my undying love for survival movies began. Anytime I was with him, I was so well loved and “spoiled” and I was always greeted with open arms. He helped however he can every time even at my big grown age, and I appreciate how he was just always so supportive, unconditionally. My thoughts are all over and I feel like there's so much more I'm supposed to say anybody who knew he know exactly what I for their own reasons, regardless of any circumstances on whichever end, I'm sure. I'll miss his laugh the most. I'm so glad that I called him that last time.. memories that'll last a life time. 🧡
